Not yet.

More ideas.

We more often use public transport (bus, train) to attend additional activities. Children come to kindergarten more often by scooter or bicycle. With older children, we go on foot more often to visit other units of the kindergarten. We encourage children to do their own activities more often.

The children are familiar with the project, the tasks, with the mascots, they hear different languages, they see through pictures, zoom, ... children who are different from themselves, they see that we can also talk, see, ... through the computer.

Adults are more relaxed when using the English language. They are learning different ICT tools.

Children have more motivation, teachers too.

Children have more movement in their life, also the getting familiar with the meaning that they are citizens of Europe
